Matt Gibb has spent more than 20 years working as a broadcaster. You name it, he's probably done it! As one of New Zealand's most experienced television presenters Matt has clocked up thousands of hours of live telly.

For three years, Matt was the face of the country's biggest telecommunications company, Spark, presenting a series of helpful tips known as "Tech in a Sec." He spent two years fronting New Zealand's national Lotto broadcast, was a regular host on TV1's Good Morning, has had co-hosting duties on TV1's Breakfast and Seven Sharp, and hosted segments on TVNZ's weekly lifestyle show Kiwi Living.

Matt started broadcasting as a teenager, presenting kids' television show Squirt, before moving on to Studio 2 Live.

In late 2010, Matt helped launch Television New Zealand's first interactive music television channel, TVNZ U. As Senior Producer for U Live, Matt created, produced and presented content from all over the country.

In 2015 Matt relocated to Sydney and spent five years as a senior producer for The Australian Broadcasting Corporation, helping create new formats and selling content to many international broadcasters. Matt was at the helm for the ABC's New Year's Eve Family Entertainment Show in 2019, producing a special viewed by well over 1,000,000 Australians.

2021 has brought a career shift into radio, and he finds himself in the anchor role on More FM's Breakfast Club with Lana, Gary and Matt. A new challenge, radio is an industry Matt has always wanted to try his hand at, and is loving the opportunity to increase his skill set (and learning to love the early alarm clocks!).

No stranger to standing up in front of a crowd, Matt has MC'd events right across New Zealand, from corporate dinners, through to solo-hosting the stage in front of over 100,000 people at Auckland's Christmas in the Park, and has had regular MC'ing work with both Tourism New Zealand and Air New Zealand across the ditch in Sydney.

An experienced voice-over artist, Matt has lent his voice to major brand TVCs and radio ads, including Spark, Coca-Cola, Ford, Air New Zealand, Mastercard and many more.
